BARBARA BLOOM's most recent project, A Birthday Party for Everything, includes the essential ingredients for a picture perfect party in a convenient carrying case.

No occasion would be complete without party hats and horns, plates, cups, napkins and favors including puzzles, frisbees, wooden tops, yo-yos, kaleidoscopes, pinwheels, fans, bubbles, candy and balloons. The artist makes this party her own and ours by festooning each surface with images ranging from the sub-atomic to the universal, from molecular structures to bodily systems to street maps to cityscapes to world views to the moon.

A Birthday Party for Everything is quite simply a celebration of life.

Barbara Bloom's work has been seen most recently in the exhibition "The Museum as Muse" at the Museum of Modern Art, NYC, at the Wexner Art Center in "The Collections of Barbara Bloom", and in installations at Peter Blum Gallery, NYC and Glen Horowitz, NYC.

Bloom is represented by Tracey Williams, Ltd., NYC.

A Birthday Party for Everything can be found in the collections of the Art Gallery of Ontario, Toronto; Art Institute of Chicago, Chicago; Colorado University Art Museum, Bolder; Cooper-Hewitt Museum, NYC; Museum of Modern Art, NYC; and the Walker Art Center, Minneapolis.
